Providing Genealogy Activities in South San Diego County

May 2013

WEDNESDAY, MAY 29th GENERAL MEETING

from 12 noon to 2 p.m.

Shirley Becker – “Exploring New York: Research and Resources”

At Chula Vista Civic Center Branch Library (365 F Street) Auditorium

Shirley has been involved with genealogy almost all of her life, she just didn't know what it was. She got seriously interested in the 1980's and started collecting information from cousins. Since she is the matriarch of the family and they all want her information.

Shirley's family research situation is rather unique in that all of her ancestors came to New York and stayed there! New York has tons of information, but you have to be there to find it.

Over the years, Shirley has learned a few things and it is easier now to find things, more information has found its way to the internet, and more people are willing to share. She loves to share what she has learned and hopes that you will also learn a few things that will help you with your research.

President's Message – by Virginia Taylor

May – the month we remember and honor our mothers. If you are lucky enough to still have your mother with you, I hope you plan to do something special with her on Mother's Day. If she is not close by, surprise her with a special gift that will let her know how much you love her.

If your mother is no longer with you, do something to honor her. Plant her favorite flower in your yard, visit someplace you know she would enjoy, or go to the library and check out a book by her favorite author and read it.

We need to also remember and honor all of our grandmothers who have gone before us. I am sure most of our grandmothers, great grandmothers and all those before lived very difficult and trying lives. It is their strength and fortitude that have helped to mold us into the individuals we are today. The best way we can honor those who have gone before us is to try to reconstruct their stories as best we can. Talk to any relatives who might have known them, dig into history books from the areas where they lived, and look for old letters and cards that may give a hint as to the person that they were.

Let us all live our lives in such a way as to make all of our mothers and grandmothers very proud of us. That is the best gift we can give them.

Save This Date! CVGS Annual Picnic on Wednesday, 26 June

Our annual picnic will be held Wednesday June 26 11:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. At the home of Gary and Wanda Brock in Bonita (address, directions in next month's newsletter).

The food service this year will be a little different. We will follow an international theme. Each attendee is asked to bring a pot luck dish that depicts their ancestral heritage. We also ask that you give a donation of $5.00 to help buy hot dogs, bratwurst, knockwurst, buns, condiments and drinks.

Please contact Dorothy Alford (phone 619-469-3483 or email dja1224@cox.net) with what you will be bringing. You will not be assigned a food category but if she starts getting too many items for one category you will have to choose something else. To be sure to get to bring what you want, get your reservations in early.

Are You Moving? Please Send Us Your Change of Address

If you have moved, or plan to move, please contact CVGS with your new address. The Post Office stops forwarding mail after six months, and returns it to CVGS for a fee. Then we have to mail it back to you at your new address.

Genealogy's Often-Misspelled Words, by Dick Eastman

(reprinted by permission of Dick Eastman, © 2013)

You might want to save this article someplace. I have no idea why, but many of the words used in researching your family tree are difficult to spell. I constantly see spelling errors in messages posted on various genealogy web sites. When someone misspells a word, it feels like they are shouting, "I don't know what I'm doing!"

Here are a few words to memorize:

Genealogy - No, it is not spelled "geneology" nor is it spelled in the manner I often see: "geneaology." That last word looks to me as if someone thought, "Just throw all the letters in there and hope that something sticks." For some reason, many newspaper reporters and their editors do not know how to spell this word. Don't they have spell checkers?

Cemetery - The letter "a" does not appear anywhere in the word "cemetery." You can remember the spelling by an old saying, "We go to the cemetery with E's." (ease)

Ancestor - This simple word is often spelled "ancester," "ansester," or "ansestor."

Ancestry - This word is often misspelled "ancestory." I often see errors when someone is referring to the ancestry.com online web site.

History - More than once I have seen someone refer to their "family histroy" or "family histry."

Descent - Perhaps not as common, but I have seen this spelled as "decent," which sounds almost the same.

Descendant - it often appears as descendent, descentent, decedent and many others.

Progenitor - I can never remember how to spell this word. I simply try to avoid it when I am writing!

The late Dick Pence was quite a storyteller, and once he told of an online genealogy article he wrote in which he poked fun at common spelling errors by genealogists. He deliberately misspelled ten different words in the article, including all of the words I listed above. In the text of the article, he never mentioned that the article was a tongue-in-cheek attempt at humor.

Dick soon received an email message from an irate lady who apparently didn't realize it was a deliberate attempt at humor. She scolded him for his spelling errors, writing, "Mr. Pence, you should be ashamed of yourself. I am an English teacher and I want to tell you that I found seven spelling errors in your article!"

SCGS Genealogy Jamboree on June 7-9 in Burbank

The 2013 Genealogy Jamboree, sponsored by the Southern California Genealogical Society, is from Friday, 7 June to Sunday, 9 June, at the Los Angeles Marriott Hotel Burbank Airport (2500 Hollywood Way in Burbank). You can register online at <http://genealogyjamboree.com/> but be sure to make hotel reservations also (unless you are staying with a friend).

There is a Pre-Event also – a "Family History and DNA: Genetic Genealogy in 2013" all-day event on Thursday, 6 June. You can register on the Jamboree page for that – the registration fee is separate from the Jamboree registration fees.

CVGS Research Group Review – by Randy Seaver

The CVGS Research Group meeting on 10 April had 16 attendees in the library auditorium. In the first hour, Randy:

- * Discussed the "Where I'm From" poem template (<http://www.swva.net/fred1st/wif.htm>) and recited his own poem (see <http://www.geneamusings.com/2013/04/saturday-night-genealogy-fun-where-im.html>). He encouraged attendees to write their own and share it with their family members, and also in the CVGS Newsletter.
- * Demonstrated using Ancestry.com's location filters (see <http://www.geneamusings.com/2013/04/using-ancestrycom-filters.html>) and Ancestry Anne's presentations on Ancestry.com Searches (see <http://ancestry-reference-desk.com/links/slides-from-presentations/>).
- * Showed the Jyl Pattee Keynote presentation at RootsTech 2013 (see <http://www.rootstech.org/?start=0&id=K2&video=2245338986001>) about creating "Wow" moments for your family.

The second hour was problem solving, questions and answers, and some success stories of the attendees, including:

- * Joan started an Ancestry Member Tree, but was disappointed that she had better detail data for her family than the Hints that Ancestry provided. We explained that Ancestry does not have ALL records for each state or country, especially vital records, that many records (e.g., census records) do not provide exact dates and places for vital events, and that not every family is already in an Ancestry Member Tree.
- * Karen S. asked how to research Southern families in the late 1600s, since there are no vital records available. The group suggested church, land, tax and probate records. For more information about available records for specific states/colonies, the group suggested the FamilySearch Research Wiki (https://www.familysearch.org/learn/wiki/en/Main_Page), the Ancestry.com Family History Wiki (<http://www.ancestry.com/wiki/>), and the USGenWeb state/county sites.
- * Virginia sent a correction to Find A Grave, and the correction was made in about two weeks.
- * Karen Y. bought a book about the History of Southern Culture at the Chula Vista library book sale, and found all sorts of historical and cultural material, including recipes.
- * John found that CVGS member Pam is a cousin - the Gaylord family in Connecticut - and discovered information about the immigrant Gaylord family in The Great Migration Begins series on the library "Family Research" shelf. He also found a record that one of his colonial ancestors was convicted of fornication.
- * Joan found a letter from her mother's friend from the 1920s in the family papers that listed her mother's birth date. She asked for help on her ancestor Sarah Orr who married David Hixson. Sarah might have been born in England in 1877 and the Hixson's resided in Iowa by 1900. A search for Sarah Orr's birth found several candidates in the English Civil Registry, and in the 1881 England census. A search on Ancestry in the US census records did not find her, but her death was found in the Minnesota Death Index on FamilySearch.

The next CVGS Research Group will be on Wednesday, 8 May at 12 noon in the Conference Room at the Chula Vista Civic Center Branch Library (365 F Street in downtown Chula Vista).

April 26th Program Review – Randy Seaver's "Searching Ancestry.com"

The April 26th meeting of the Chula Vista Genealogical Society featured Randy Seaver's presentation titled "Searching Ancestry.com Effectively."

In this presentation, Randy focused on searching Ancestry.com record database, rather than family trees, DNA and the other features and services that Ancestry.com provides. He identified 19 different tools or methods to use to effectively search databases on Ancestry.com, including:

- * Customize your Home Page (move the most important features to the top of your home page)
- * Use the Card Catalog Searches (Titles or Keywords) and Filters (Collections, Locations, Dates, Languages)
- * Consult the "New and Updated Collections" Page often (<http://www.ancestry.com/cs/reccol/default>)
- * Search from the Home Page (basic form only), the Search Tab (basic or advanced form) and from within an Ancestry Member Tree.
- * Choose New Search (more search parameters) or Old Search (some people like it better)
- * Search or Browse a Specific Collection (e.g., Census and voter Records) or a Specific Database (e.g., the 1900 U.S. Census)
- * Remember that Search Forms are "Sticky" (they remember your last search form settings)
- * Select Ranked Matches (uses a star system to list probable matches) or Exact Matches (searches exactly what you specified)
- * Use Name Filters and Location Filters (only in New Search, Default, Exact or variations)
- * Sort Matches by Relevance (best matches from all databases in star ranking order) or Summarize by Category (number of matches listed by Collection and specific database)
- * Use "Edit Search" or "Hot Keys" to Modify Search Parameters (New Search only)
- * Follow Up on "Suggested Records" Provided by Ancestry.com
- * Use the Source Citation information provided by Ancestry to cite the source of the information
- * Know and use all of the Image Viewer Options - Index, Correct, Source, Save, Print, Share, Full Screen)
- * Understand the Wild Card Rules for Names and Use Them
- * Use Keyword Searches in OCR-based Databases (e.g., Newspapers, books, etc.)
- * Use Ancestry Navigation Tips/Tricks (go to home page using Ancestry logo; right-click to open one match or database from the match or database list; right-click on Back browser button to go back several screens, etc.)
- * The Customer Help button (top right) is your friend - use "Ask Ancestry" <http://ancestry.custhelp.com/>
- * Check the Ancestry.com YouTube page weekly videos (<http://www.youtube.com/user/AncestryCom?ob=0>) and Ancestry Anne presentations for more search tips (<http://ancestry-reference-desk.com/link>).

Randy summed up the talk saying:

- * Ancestry.com's "New Search" Capability is the Most Sophisticated and Complex Search Algorithm in Genealogy.
- * "New Search" has a Steep Learning Curve – Users Need to Practice to Learn How to Use It
- * Check Your Search Fields (they are "Sticky") Regularly – the Computer and Websites Do Exactly What you tell them to do!
- * Use the Card Catalog and Filters to Find Hidden or Unindexed Databases
- * The "Help" Link or Button is your Friend!

My Story! – New Newsletter Feature

Here is a new CVGS Newsletter feature – “My Story.” Please submit your family stories about your family, your childhood, your work life, your hobbies and interests, etc. (really almost anything) to the Editor (Randy Seaver, email rjseaver@cox.net, preferred in a computer file of some type). They can be 200 to 500 words long. I will try to print at least one “My Story” a month, space and submissions permitting.

My Story: The Paper Route and the Flexies, by Randy Seaver

As a young teenager, I shared a newspaper route, in the Brooklyn Heights area of San Diego, with my younger brother, Stan, to earn money. The Independent was a twice weekly newspaper, with mostly advertisements and local news. Our route was between Fern Street (east) and 28th Street (west), Fir Street (north) to Date Street (south). Fir Street was three blocks down from our house on 30th Street between Hawthorn and Ivy Streets. The only customer that I remember was old Mr. Stotler. We always seemed to “collect” our 35 cents on an evening when he and his cronies were playing cards, and he would invite us in to talk. He would give us extra money if we would learn something new – like the state capitals, National Parks, the alphabet backwards, etc. I can still impress my kids and grandchildren by saying the alphabet backwards very fast. We delivered the folded newspapers on our Flexies, carrying them in boxes and throwing them onto the porches (we weren't allowed to throw them from bicycles).

The Flexy (essentially a sled with wheels – low to the ground, steered by handlebars with springs, with hand brakes) was a great transportation device for a kid, as long as you were on the sidewalk. However, it was dangerous in the street because it was so low as to be nearly invisible to drivers. We would go off a curb at a corner, swerve out into the street, and go up the first driveway on the next block. One day, while going down 30th Street to the nickel-and-dime store on Beech Street, I went off the curb at Date Street, swerved out into the street, looked behind me, and saw a city bus bearing down about 5 feet behind me. Oops. I crashed on the curb, flipped off the flexy, hit my head, and suffered a concussion. The bus managed to miss me...and in the 1950s, the doctor paid a house call.
