At Bonita-Sunnyside Library (4375 Bonita Road) in Community Room

John Finch on “The Civil War”

John Finch has been a member of the Chula Vista Genealogical Society since 1999 and has served as Library Coordinator, Program Chair and President (2004 -2006 term). He is also a member of genealogy societies in his areas of his research. Retired from U.S. Navy, 1980, and San Diego County Probation Department, 1999.

John developed an interest in his own family history at a very young age, but did not begin an active pursuit of research until after retiring in 1999. Now, he spends several hours each week researching his family and volunteers, at the Chula Vista Civic Center Branch Library, every Wednesday morning to assist new and seasoned researchers.

John’s topic today, The Civil War, is of special interest to him. He has three direct ancestors that fought in this conflict and he is very proud of their service in this momentous event in our history. It is his goal that you may learn how to identify your veteran ancestor and learn details of his service enhancing you’re family experience.

President's Message – by Virginia Taylor

As I was sitting in my nice cool air conditioned house this weekend I was thinking back 50 – 75 – 100 years and wondered how my ancestors were able to keep cool in the hot muggy summers they had to endure.

When I was growing up I had never heard of air conditioning. I did not know anyone who had an air conditioned house, none of the stores nor theaters were air conditioned. We used fans and in the evening we would go sit in the backyard under the trees trying to catch any breeze that came along.

When it was bedtime I put sheets on the dining room floor in front of the east window and hoped for the breeze to blow all night. It was much more comfortable than trying to sleep in my upstairs bedroom.

When we went to church there were lots of paper fans in the pews. I remember they were placed by the local funeral home. Philippi Funeral Home was printed on all of the fans.

But, what about a generation or two before mine? How did they cope without electricity to run fans? They had to be a much harder people than we are. Did they improvise some kind of “swamp cooler” to put in their windows? Hopefully they had been able to stock pile blocks of ice cut from the rivers during the winter. I would love to be able to go back for just one day to see how they coped with the summer weather. I am sure all of our ancestors are laughing at us complaining about how hot and humid it is and how miserable we are.

Do I want to go back to the “good old days”? No thank you. I’ll take all of our modern conveniences and complain every time I have to walk outside into the heat and humidity. How soon will winter get here?

FamilySearch Library Photo Scanning, by Ann Stevens

Just thought that I would pass along some news (at least news to me): I went to the FamilySearch Library in Mission Valley (4195 Camino del Rio South) recently to scan pictures using their photo scanning service. After an hour and 20 minutes, I had scanned 1,363 pictures!

I went to pay and they told me that they were no longer charging for scanning—they had been notified by Salt Lake City of the new policy change just the week before. They are still charging for photocopies of books, periodicals or computer printouts.

Save the Date: Saturday, November 7 for CVGS Fall Seminar

The CVGS Fall Seminar will be on Saturday, 7 November at the Bonita Golf Course (5540 Sweetwater Road in Bonita) from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., including a catered lunch, door prizes, etc. Please keep this date open.

The seminar theme is “Over the Pond.” Our ancestors came ACROSS the pond to come here, we are going OVER the pond to research their history. The two speakers will be:

1) Judith Brooks:

* High Road or Low Road - How and Why the Scots Migrated – This talk is basically a "big picture" history of the Scots and why they left Scotland starting in the 13th century through 19th and 20th centuries. They migrated all around the world and this talk will present how and why they landed in fifteen or more countries by country.

* Using Ancestral Religious Migratory Patterns to find Church Records to Further Your Research – This presentation covers the major Christian Religions in the early years, their history, where the majority migrated to in America and why. It recommends steps to locating potential churches based on these patterns.

Judith Brooks is a long time researcher and member of the APG. Detailed data can be found at: https://www.apgen.org/directory/search\_detail.html?mbr\_id=4196

2) Toni Perrone:

* Italian Research, Traditions, and Customs – Call it culture, call it tradition. How much do you really know about your family? This lecture will assist you in finding the resources to complete a genealogy report on your Italian family.

* Marriage and Inheritance Customs in Germany--Archive Records – The value of heritage and inheritance was very strong, marriage contracts were negotiated, and were usually based on Partible Inheritance --This will be discussed in depth.

Toni Perrone is a founding member of the Immigrant Library in Burbank, California. She has been a speaker since 1981.

The fee for CVGS Members is $45 and for nonmembers is $50; this includes a catered lunch and door prizes. Note that this is the main fundraising event for the CVGS Scholarship program.

Research Group Meeting Review – 12 August 2015

The CVGS Research Group met on Wednesday, 12 August 2015 at the Chula Vista Civic Center Branch Library in the Conference Room. There were 20 in attendance.

In the first hour, Randy discussed:

- * RootsMagic 7 users should upgrade to Version 7.0.7.0 in order to access the FamilySearch Family Tree.
- * Family Tree Maker 2014 users should upgrade to Build 404 or 1404, a required update.
- * Check out The Family History Guide for computer, genealogy and family history tutorials (www.TheFHGuide.com).
- * Ancestry.com added the Social Security Applications and Claims database in July - this database includes parents names and applicant name changes for 49 million deceased applicants (this database does not have all Social security applicants).
- * www.Findmypast.com is a commercial genealogy database and family tree website, featuring records in the United Kingdom, Ireland, the USA, Australia, New Zealand and Canada. The family tree has Record Hints for persons in an isolated family tree.
- * When was the William Sever Mansion house in Kingston, Mass. built? This was Randy's research goal in July after receiving an inquiry from the house's present owner. He found land records, probate records, and 1935 era WPA survey records that show the house location, grounds, photographs and floor plan, but could not determine an exact year of the building. It's in the 1760 to 1770 time frame.

In the second hour, several attendees shared their research challenges and successes, including:

- * Shirley used the New York Marriage Records collection on FamilySearch to search for her parents marriage record. She didn't find it, but did find two other marriages for her father before he married her mother!
- * Lorrie has a Beavers ancestor in Virginia who served on the Union side in the Civil War. She has a 23andMe autosomal DNA match with a Beaver ancestor, who has private journals with family information.
- * Susi's grandmother's brother is not allowed "in the house", but a descendant of the man on Facebook contacted Susi and she provided family information.
- * Karen S.'s mother's family resided in Western Pennsylvania in the 1700s, but she can't find parentage of William Ritchey born in 1784 and resided in Armstrong and Clarion Counties. The group noted that records may be in parent counties, and she should look for Ritchey entries in land, probate, census, military, church records, and county history books.
- * Bethel's cousin says their Hooker ancestor was related to the Civil War general and was born in North Carolina. The obituary says he was born in 1787 in South Carolina, died 1873 in Alabama. There may be War of 1812 pension file records on Fold3.
- * Carole's grandfather was in one of Gabe Selak's photographs of early San Diego standing by the plaza fountain in 1913, just before the "coldest day ever." The grandfather was an electrical engineer, but she proved he did not install the electrics in the fountain, which were shown to be unsafe, according to the San Diego newspaper (article found on GenealogyBank).

August 26th Program Review – Problem Solving Panel

There were 32 attendees at the Chula Vista Genealogical Society program meeting on 26 August 2015 at the Bonita-Sunnyside Library in Bonita.

The program was a "Problem Solving Panel" answering research questions submitted beforehand by CVGS members about a specific research topic. The panel members were CVGS members Shirley Becker, Ceasar Castro, John Finch and Randy Seaver. They divided the questions between themselves and created short presentations to answer the questions for the questioner and the audience as a whole. They discussed the genealogical resources found, and provided suggestions for solving a specific research problem.

The questions included:

- 1) Where can I find newspaper articles for the early 1800s in Ohio and Connecticut? Arlene asked the question, and Ceasar provided research guidance for her in both free and subscription websites and onsite repositories.
- 2) What passenger lists are available for colonial Virginia (1607-1776)? Karen S. asked the question, and John listed books, websites and online databases that provide these records.
- 3) How does one obtain military pension records? Susan Z. asked this question and Randy responded with ways to obtain available records online, from NARA by mail on paper or CDROM.
- 4. How do I access 19th century naturalization records in New York? Jean asked this question, and Shirley provided suggestions of online websites and databases, and information from the New York Family History Research Guide and Gazetteer book.
- 5. Why have DNA testing done? If testing is beneficial, is there a company that is better than others? The question was asked by Marcia, and Ceasar responded with information about the three types of DNA tests (Y, mitochondrial and autosomal) and the test providers, along with examples of results from 23andMe.
- 6. Where can I find Orphan Lists for all states during 1860-1870? Bethel asked the question, and John provided information about adoption and orphan articles, websites and databases.
- 7. How do I access 19th century Quaker records in England? Jean asked this question, and Randy reviewed FamilySearch Wiki articles, online databases, and places to get help to obtain these records in England.
- 8. When I have exhausted available online data, how can I find out what paper or microfiche information is kept in a particular area? Karen S. asked this question, and Shirley provided ideas for informational articles, FHL microfilm and microfiche, travel to locales (to visit genealogical and historical societies, courthouses, town or county offices, etc.), write letters, and post messages on Facebook and message boards.
- 9. What are the best sources to find passenger lists for ancestors arriving into Canada? Karen Y. asked this question, and Ceasar reviewed FamilySearch Wiki articles and website links to find the available databases.
- 10. A Civil War soldier's records are not in NARA because he died in 1932 and the cutoff was 1928, I believe. Where could his records be? Susan Z. asked this question, and John responded with suggestions for the Soldiers and Sailors system, Fold3, and NARA to search for records. He sent a query to NARA which has not been answered yet.
- 11. How do I find records from Alsace-Lorraine (French or German)? Jean asked this question, and Randy provided historical, geographical and genealogical information from Wikipedia, the FamilySearch Wiki, websites, the Family History Library Catalog, and published book suggestions.

CVGS at Chula Vista Family Discovery Day, by Karen Yarger

The second annual local family history fair sponsored by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints was held Saturday, August 8 at the Chula Vista Stake Center. The free event was well attended, with about 13 of our CVGS members there. The keynote speaker was Carlos Yturralde, President of the Hispanic Heritage Project.

Attendees were offered an interesting array of classes, video presentations and labs, some in Spanish, with topics including “Building a Genealogy Research Toolbox,” “Getting the Most Out of Ancestry.com,” and RootsTech classes. CVGS members Ralph and Debbie Munoz presented “Across the Border to Loreto, MX” and Patricia Diane Godinez not only taught a class in Spanish, but also took pictures and more pictures! Our members’ presence was well documented.

Attendees could work in the Ancestry.com lab, or receive training in indexing Freedmen’s Bureau records and others. I enjoyed a 13 year old’s instruction on how to index WW I records. Yes, let’s start them young!

The gym offered table exhibits by CVGS (thank you, volunteers!), the DAR, the San Diego African-American Genealogy Research Group, San Diego Genealogy Society, and Family Search help. The Stake also provided fresh fruit and other healthy snacks to help see us through the day, a nice touch.

It was a good day to learn and to network with other genies. Next year will be even bigger and better. Do plan to attend!

Mt. Olivet Cemetery – A Success Story, by Karen Yarger

It all started with a phone message on our Society’s toll-free phone number (1-844-268-2847). A gentleman in the L.A. area wanted to know if we could help him gain access to the Mt. Olivet Cemetery in Nestor (off Hollister St. in south San Diego). Four of his family’s graves are there – the Deckers and the Youngs – all buried between 1903 and 1920. The cemetery dates back to 1868 and had fallen into disrepair due to neglect and vandalism. The man had come to San Diego a couple of years ago, but found the cemetery gates weed-choked and locked, with no contact numbers posted.

He found the graves on Find-a-Grave, but an internet search produced no owner’s name or phone contact. What to do? He could have posted on Facebook or message boards or other online resources, but time was of the essence. So now what?

We put the request out to some of our long time members, and Ralph Munoz, Shirley Becker, Randy Seaver, Susi Pentico and Ceasar Castro all responded with helpful suggestions, especially Ceasar, whose great grandmother is buried there. But it was Bobbie Lane who took the prize. She actually walked to the cemetery gates, found them open, and even saw the caretaker’s phone numbers posted! She was pleased to report that the cemetery’s condition looked improved too.

I heard from the gentleman after his visit, and he was so very grateful for our assistance in making his visit to his great grandparents’ graves a success.

The lesson from this? If you need help or can’t find the info you need – Put it out there! Post in on a blog, a message board, or any of the social media sites. You never know who has exactly what you need.
