Family History Day

“Ancestors Matter - What Do You Know? What Can You Find”

Chula Vista Civic Center Branch Library (365 F Street, Chula Vista, CA 91910)

Plan now to attend the Big Event! This will be a fun, free community-wide event to encourage our friends and neighbors to explore their genealogies and family histories. Maybe your family needs a little push too?

We'll have a day filled with a variety of activities for all ages:

- 10:30 a.m.: The keynote speaker, Randy Seaver, will present “Be an Ancestor Detective”
- 12 noon: The day's highlight will feature Cesar Castro exploring the family tree of the Chula Vista Mayor and her ancestors with “Who is Mayor Mary Casillas Salas?” similar to the genealogy TV program “Who Do You Think You Are?”
- Art projects and story hours for the children
- Basic genealogy techniques and research tips for teens and adults
- Volunteer experts to help with computer research of your family ancestors and to help build family trees
- Tours of the Library ... and more!

Bring the Family – Come for an hour or stay all day

For more info see www.cvgenealogy.org, or call toll free 1-844-268-2847

WE NEED YOU!

Can you volunteer an hour or two to help make Family History Day a success?

Please contact Ana Castro (crcastro@cox.net) or Karen Yarger (khy13@hotmail.com). Thank you!

President's Message – by Virginia Taylor

As I sit here watching all the news coverage of the major hurricane now moving toward the East Coast, I wonder how many genealogists in that area have all their work backed up, and how many have their physical paper work readily available to load into their car as they prepare to evacuate. And what about all the books they have acquired over the years? I am sure they do not want to lose any of them. Would you be able to pack up in a very short time and move to a safer place? Maybe we all should think about such a possibility. We don't have hurricanes but we do have wildfires and one could hit any one of us at any time.

As all of you who attended the workshop last Saturday know, it is important to back up everything. I hope all of you went home and practiced what you were taught. I was very sorry that I could not be at the workshop. I am sure I would have learned new ways to back up.

There is going to be a follow up class on back up at our Computer Group on October 19. In the early class at 10:15 Gary will teach us how to put Dropbox on our computer and then will actually use Dropbox in Shirley's class at 12:30. I don't know about the rest of you, but I am looking forward to it. I do not understand Dropbox and hope this will make it clear to me and I will be able to start using it. Be sure to bring your laptop to the early class.

Don't forget our Family History Day on October 22. The committee has been working very hard to put together a very successful day. We are still in need of volunteers to help in different areas. Please volunteer if possible.

Remember there will be no General Meeting on October 26 due to having the Family History Day just a few days earlier.

Please Register for Meetings on the CVGS Website

Please register for the Program Meetings, the Saturday Workshops, the Research Group and the Computer Group on the CVGS website – www.CVGenealogy.org. Log in with your member ID, then click on "Events" and the Register button for each event, and follow directions. This will help with meeting planning and speaker handouts.

New CVGS Nametags Available for Sale

Jane Strawn has organized new nametags for the members: they have a pine green background with a white tree logo, Society name and member's name, and a magnetized back. If a minimum of 17 are ordered, the cost will be $10 each, with $2 of that going to the CVGS Scholarship Fund.

Order forms are available at the regular meetings, and the first orders have arrived. Please contact Jane (jstrawn2@cox.net) to order your new nametag and for more information.

Next Computer Group Meeting – 19 October 2016

The next Computer Group meeting will be on Wednesday, 19 October 2016 at the Chula Vista Civic Center Branch Library (365 F Street in downtown Chula Vista, Calif.).

Class will start at 10:15 a.m. in the Conference Room and go until 11:45 a.m. when we will break for lunch. It is called a “Beginning Computer Genealogy” group. If you have a laptop, you should bring it. Gary Brock will be demonstrating very basic computer tasks such as how to find tutorials and use them. We will move to the Computer Lab at 12:30 p.m. and stay until 2 p.m.

This month, a class on DropBox will be presented by Gary and Shirley. Gary will teach the members how to upload DropBox in the morning session, and then Shirley and Gary will get the attendees to access their Dropbox program for their use in the afternoon class.

Lemon Grove Research Group News

The Lemon Grove Research Group now meets once a month at the Lemon Grove Branch Library (location is 3001 School Lane in Lemon Grove) from 6 p.m. to 7:50 p.m. Contact Susi Pentico (619-690-1188, SusiCP@cox.net) for more details. All are invited to attend. Beginners are welcome! Upcoming programs include:

 Wednesday, 19 October, 6 to 8 p.m.: “Using Library Resources for Genealogy Research” by Liz Vagani

Next CVGS Saturday Workshop – 5 November 2016

The November 5th Saturday Workshop will be from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. in the Community Room at the Bonita-Sunnyside Library (4375 Bonita Road). The subject will be the “Allway Sync Program” with Gary Brock for those wanting to learn more about this program he demonstrated at our recent workshop on Backups. Free to all to attend.

October 1 Saturday Workshop Review, by Susi Pentico

We had 8 in attendance for this “Back Up Your Data” event. Randy Seaver led it off with a great presentation on LOCKSS - “Lots of Copies Keep Stuff Safe” - and the programs and websites he uses, some free, some paid; including an external drive, USB drives, Dropbox, Google Drive, iDrive, online trees, and Scribd.com.

Shirley Becker then explained another reason for doing backup with her recent series of trips to the Apple Store to resolve issues. Thankfully, she had backed up all her data, prior to her trip to the Apple Store. It started with an incorrect installation of a software program.

Susi Pentico mentioned some types of back up systems not shared. She noted that it was important to get family members to back up their work, having had a distant family member in Pennsylvania have a house fire and the senior student lost 2 weeks of work on a special report. She also mentioned she lost a backup drive last November much to her dismay and about 7 years of potential data lost.

Gary Brock presented more ideas on backups. He demonstrated many features. He talked about the genealogical programs that Randy did and Susi mentioned. MyHeritage.com has a cloud feature for storage off your computer.

There are thumb drives, external drives, large and small. Gary also mentioned another program I am hoping he talks more on soon. I was amazed that over half of those in attendance had various forms of back up.

September 28th Program Review - "Stump the Chumps"

The CVGS program meeting on 28 September featured three CVGS genealogists answering research questions submitted by members one month ahead of the meeting. There were about 30 in attendance, including all but one of the questioners.

The researchers prepared short presentations to review the questions and responses, and each response took 5 to 10 minutes. The eight questions and a summary of the answers were:

1) Karen Y. asked: "My ancestors emigrated from Norway by ship into Quebec in the 1850s. How does one trace their journey from Quebec to their eventual homes in Iowa and Minnesota?"

Randy Seaver responded: The FamilySearch Wiki page on "Norway Emigration and Immigration" provides a wealth of material on this topic. American records that can help include county histories, military pension records, naturalization records, census records and church records. The Norwegian-American Genealogical Center and Naeseth Library in Madison, Wisconsin has an extensive library with a Norwegian immigrant database that might be helpful. Randy shared an article found in a book that told the migration story for one of his wife's Norwegian-born relatives.

2) Paula-Jo C. asked: "I have an ancestor's brother who died during the Mexican War in Mexico. I have tried to find microfilmed records. Where can one find death records from that time period?"

Cesar Castro responded: Paula-Jo's soldier was Charles Houston, a musician in the Georgia Infantry, who died in February 1848 near Veracruz, Mexico. The National Archives has archival material about the Mexican-American War, including battle records, death records and medical records. There were three hospitals in the state of Veracruz - in the city of Veracruz, in Jalapa, and in the Castle at Perote. The Descendants of Mexican-American War Veterans has information about the war at <http://www.dmwv.org/mexwar/mexwar1.htm>, including information about Jalapa and the Castle at Perote. Cesar corresponded with researchers at the National Archives and University of Wisconsin - Madison about record availability and obtained more information, including a useful book online at FamilySearch and others can be obtained by Inter-library Loan.

3) Diane G. asked: "I think I have found my relative's death date in an index record. James O'Leary died in Strood, Kent, England at age 60. What more information might I get from the actual record?"

How do I obtain the actual record? In regards to sending money for the record, how is it done and what is the cost? Where can I find someone to search for the record for me?"

Randy Seaver responded: England's Civil Registration of births, marriages and deaths began in 1837 and are available to the present day. Death certificates include the decedent's name, age, sex, occupation, death date, death place, cause of death, and informant's information. You can order a certificate by Internet, telephone, or post from the Register General Office for England and Wales. The cost is £9.25, and you can order online at <http://www.gro.gov.uk/gro/content/certificates/> and pay by credit card.

4) Karen S. asked: "The Strassburger ship passenger list provides the date, name of the ship, the captain and the passengers. Is there any source that gives more information about the individual passengers?"

Randy Seaver responded: You can obtain more information about immigration to Pennsylvania at https://familysearch.org/wiki/en/Pennsylvania_Emigration_and_Immigration. There are many books, but none really provide more passenger information. To find information about the lives of individual passengers, you need to look for compiled family genealogies and locality books, for periodical articles, and consult the Pennsylvania state, historical and genealogical societies.

SDGS/SDHC Genealogy Day is Saturday, 15 October

Registration is open for the 2nd Annual San Diego Genealogy Day. The event, sponsored by the San Diego Genealogical Society (SDGS) and the San Diego History Center (SDHC), will feature Anne Gillespie Mitchell, from Ancestry.com (AncestryAnne). She will speak on “How Do I Know When I’m Right” and, in a breakout session, “Finding & Researching Women.” Other breakout sessions include using newspapers in genealogy by Del Ritchhart, resources in San Diego for building your family tree by Peter Steelquist, and the 10 best free genealogy websites by Randy Seaver!

Located at the History Center in Balboa Park, the event is scheduled for Saturday, 15 October from 8 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. The cost is $40 for SDGS or SDHC members, and $50 for others. Enjoy a continental breakfast and get your genealogy questions answered from local genealogical societies in the Exhibit area. CVGS will have a display along with other local societies and organizations. Go to www.sandiegohistory.org/genealogy to select your sessions. Volunteers are needed! To offer your help, or get more information about Genealogy Day, contact Penny McBride at sdgsclasses@gmail.com.

CVGS Officer Nominees for 2017-2018

The Nominating Committee (Susi Pentico, Shirley Becker, Karen Smith) has selected the following members to be nominated as Society Officers for 2017-2018:

- President: Ceasar Castro
- First Vice-President, Programs: Carole Sobke
- Second Vice-President, Membership: Karen Smith
- Treasurer: Sam Seat
- Secretary: Karen Yarger

The election for the 2017-2018 Officers will be held at the 30 November 2016 General Meeting in the auditorium of the Chula Vista Civic Center Branch Library at 12 noon. The Officers will be installed at the Holiday Party on 14 December 2016, and will assume their duties on 1 January 2017.

French / Canadian Research Periodicals, by Susi Pentico

A long time member has offered two sets of Journals to CVGS and the Library. One is in English the other in French. I personally would like the English set on our shelves at the library. Does anyone know of a French group in our region?

The title of the English language periodical is The American Canadian Genealogist, a quarterly journal since 1973. The focus of articles is on Acadian, French-Canadian and Franco-American family history and genealogy – it would be difficult to have one without the other.

The title of the French language periodical is Mémoires, a quarterly journal since 1944, published by the French-Canadian Genealogical Society. The periodical contains information about genealogy, history, donations, new acquisitions, queries and responses, the Society's activities and news.

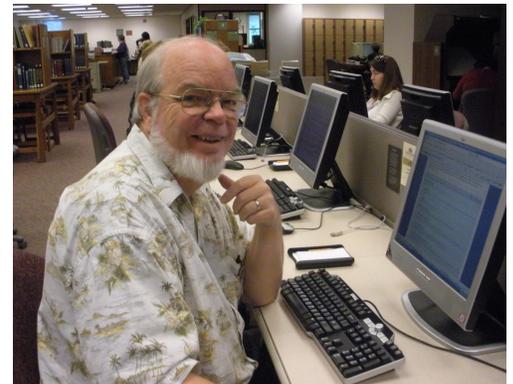

There are many years worth of knowledge in both sets. If you would like to look at them, contact Virginia Taylor or Susi Pentico.

September 14th Research Group Meeting Review

The 14 September meeting of the CVGS Research Group had 15 in attendance.

In the first hour, Randy highlighted some of the news from the previous month, including:

- * The Genealogy Rockstars were selected in a number of categories on John D. Reid's blog, by over 2,000 voters from around the world. The winners of the U.S., International and Genetic Genealogy awards were the same three person: Gold - Judy G. Russell; Silver - CeCe Moore; Bronze - Blaine Bettinger.
- * The San Diego Genealogical Society and San Diego History Center Genealogy Day will be Saturday, 15 October. The keynote speaker will be Anne Mitchell of Ancestry.com. There will be other speakers during the morning also, plus exhibits. CVGS will have an exhibit table.
- * MyHeritage announced their DNA Matching service for users who submit their DNA raw data from either AncestryDNA, FamilyTreeDNA, or 23andMe. Randy has heard from two matches in the two weeks since the announcement.
- * Ancestry.com updated their Member Tree index for the first time since February.
- * Randy demonstrated "stimulating" Record Hints in Ancestry Member Trees by clicking on a tree link attached to a tree person. Just uploading or creating a new tree on Ancestry will provide Hints almost immediately. He uploaded a 280 person GEDCOM, had 400 Hints within a minute, and then stimulated 400 more by clicking on a tree link for persons in the new tree.

In the second hour, the group discussed:

- * Karen Y. described a Scottish tartan article she found in the U.K. Guardian newspaper about an 1842 book that said that official tartans were made up and were not traditional. She also looked at the Domesday Book at the San Diego Central Library, and looked at the Wikipedia article about it and the website <http://domesdaybook.co.uk>, which includes a search for English towns as of 1088 AD.
- * Diane has done research for her husband Ramon, and has been able to connect him to a famous person 24 generations back in Spain. She challenged the group to guess who it might be. Nobody could. Don Quixote? Miguel Cervantes? Cristobal Colon? King Ferdinand or Queen Isabella of Spain?
- * Shirley found a line back to Maud Hastings, who is a gateway ancestor to the English royal line, and has gone back to King Henry II through his mistress Audrey Barlow.
- * Virginia has several 3rd cousin matches on MyHeritage DNA who share her second great-grandfather.
- * Susi noted that Mary's cousin in Riverside and his wife died recently, and a sister of the wife called Mary to say she has more Pentico genealogy information. Susi also has a DNA match with a Benninghof person (Pentico is a derivative of Benninghof).
- * JoAnn visited a cousin who recognized a name on her family tree as the spy master for Queen Elizabeth I. She also has a mystery John Sadler, born 1852 in England, on her 5 generation pedigree chart.
- * Karen S. has many English ancestors coming to colonial Virginia, who received lots of land but there is not much about their origins. The group noted that many of these settlers were later sons of persons of quality, and there are books that may describe their origins.
- * Sylvia asked how to find "gateway" ancestors in colonial times that go back to the European royal and noble lines. The best book is probably Gary Boyd Roberts book on the Royal Descents of 600 Immigrants.

“LOCKSS - Lots of Copies Keep Stuff Safe” by Randy Seaver

Dick Eastman popularized LOCKSS, and encourages all genealogists to back up their personal records and genealogy documents, photos and trees on a monthly basis.

What do I do? I talked about this on Saturday, 1 October at the CVGS Saturday Workshop. Here are the steps I take every day, week or month:

- 1) Move my photos taken on my iPhone to my desktop computer using iCloud each month.
- 2) Back up my financial records, photos, genealogy records and correspondence on a 150 gb external hard drive attached to my desktop computer each month.
- 3) Route all of my email to my Gmail address, which is saved in the cloud, which is accessible from my desktop and laptop computers, and my tablet and smart phone.
- 4) Transfer my important files from my desktop computer to my Dropbox account (3 gb free) every week (including my RootsMagic family tree files). Dropbox syncs files to or from my desktop, laptop, tablet and smart phone so they can be accessed at any time on any computer.
- 5) Transfer other important files from my desktop computer to my Google Drive account (15 gb free) each week. Google Drive syncs files to or from my desktop and laptop computers so they can be accessed at any time on any computer.
- 6) Have iDrive (a backup program, $60/year) on my desktop computer to copy and save all new or changed files on my desktop computer to the cloud every night at 12 midnight. If necessary, I can retrieve any or all of these files on any other computer by accessing my iDrive account.
- 7) Saved my old family photos on my Flickr account (free) in albums, and on Pinterest (free) in albums.
- 8) Created ancestor and descendant genealogy reports from my RootsMagic database and saved them as PDF files, then uploaded them to Scribd.com (free). These files are searchable by Google.
- 9) Update my Ancestry Member Trees, MyHeritage tree, and Findmypast tree on a yearly basis. I also match my RootsMagic persons to FamilySearch Family Tree profiles and add event data, notes, sources and media on a regular basis.

Chula Vista Library Has Geni Pro on Their Computers, by Randy Seaver

The Chula Vista Library has subscribed (for free) with Geni.com (an online family tree program) to add Geni.com Public Access to all of the Library computers, including those in the Computer Lab. Geni is a worldwide family tree, not your tree, with one profile for each person who ever lived. Users can invite their family members to contribute information, stories and photos to fill out the tree. There are privacy controls to protect living persons. Geni.com is free to join and add up to 250 persons to the tree. After you have added 250 persons, then you have to pay a subscription fee.

At the last Computer Group, the attendees subscribed to Geni.com for a free Basic account by inputting a username, a password and an email address. The system emails you an access link and after you click on that link, you are in the program. Once you are signed up with the program, you can use the Geni.com program at the library as if you are a Geni Pro (paid) subscriber.

I recommend that you sign up at home for a Basic (free) account, and save your signon credentials. Add your family, your parents, and your grandparents at a minimum before you try to access Geni at the library. When you access Geni at the library, you may have a “Tree Match” which means someone else has the same person (e.g., your grandparent or another person you have entered). You can then “Merge” your profile with that profile and perhaps gain more knowledge about the other profile's ancestral families.

Research Group Review (Concluded from Page 6)

* Linda had a computer crash, has a new computer, and is cleaning up her genealogy files. She had a brick wall ancestor - a paternal great-grandfather. She found his birth record on Ancestry in an index and that led to finding the record on FamilySearch collections for Mexico.

* Helen said that the ethnicity estimate for her brother's autosomal DNA had changed over time, and she wondered why. The group noted that the estimates are based on reference groups, which can be relatively small. Ancestry recently increased the size of the reference groups and that may be why the ethnicity changed. All three DNA services have improved their autosomal DNA analysis tools.

The next CVGS Research Group will be the second Wednesday, 12 October, at 12 noon in the Conference Room at the Chula Vista Civic Center Branch Library.

5) Karen S. also asked: "Can Revolutionary War records be located by the numbers listed next to the patriot's name?"

Cesar Castro responded: The book Index of Revolutionary War Pension Applications lists soldiers and their pension record numbers. The "numbers" are how the records were filed in the National Archives - "S" for Survivor, "W" for Widow, "R" for Rejected, "Dis" for Disability, and "BLWt" for Bounty Land Warrant. Cesar went through the records available for one of Karen's soldiers - James Burton of Virginia. Fold3.com and Ancestry.com have the Revolutionary War pension files that can be downloaded.

6) Ann S. asked: "My husband's (Del) 4th great-grandfather was William Garvin. Where and when did William Garvin die?"

Randy Seaver responded: Ann provided more information about this man and his family. Several derivative sources say William Garvin died in Cranbourne, Dorchester County, Quebec in 1869, and was probably in the Church of England. Quebec research information are listed in https://familysearch.org/wiki/en/Quebec,_Canada_Genealogy, and search strategies are in https://familysearch.org/wiki/en/Quebec_Search_Strategies. An online search in the Drouin collection on Ancestry.com did not find him. Searches of Church of England records near Cranbourne and probate records may provide a death or burial date. A Rootsweb message board post on the Quebec and/or Dorchester boards may provide information about record availability and cemetery records.

7) Mary N. asked: "How do I find an ancestor who walked out on the family and disappeared?"

Shirley Becker responded: Mary's missing person is Antonio/Anthony Casper who was from Germany and resided in Ohio. Searches for others of the surname in census records might help. Historical newspaper searches on Chronicling America and other sites may provide an obituary or news articles. Published books on Google, Internet Archive and other sites may be helpful. He may have changed his name.

8) Virginia T. asked: "Where can I go, other than the obvious places, to find ship arrivals for Wilmington, Delaware, in the late 1790s to early 1800s time frame?"

Shirley Becker responded: The FamilySearch Wiki page on "Delaware Emigration and Immigration" may be helpful. The Delaware Genealogical Society has a newsletter and research assistance. The University of Delaware Library has a help section for researching passengers and naturalizations. The National Archives has ship arrivals and passenger lists, and these are also on Ancestry.com.
